CONSCIENCE MONEY SENT TO TREASURY

Eight Thousand Dollars Returned by Unknown.

TWO CENTS POSTAGE WAS DUE

Neatly Tied in the Bundle Were Two Bills of the Denomination of $1,000, Several of $500, and Enough of Twenties to Make Up the Balance. Had Already Sent $12,000.

"If it had a return address on it, I wouldn't open it at all," commented a clerk in Secretary Cortelyou's office yesterday morning, as he examined an envelope marked "Postage due 2 cents."

"This paying postage on other people's letters is getting too frequent," he continued, "but this looks like newspaper clippings, and I guess we'll have to stand for it."

Then he split open a long envelope postmarked "Jersey City, N. J.," in which was the largest contribution to the "con science fund" received in years. Neatly tied in a bundle were two bills of the denomination of $1.000, several of $500, and enough of $20 to make $8,000.

Sent $12,000 Once Before. "I have already sent in $12,000," said the letter, which was unsigned, "and I want to make it $20,000, so forward $8,000 more." Treasury officials find that the record of the fund shows the receipt of sums of $8,000 and $4,000. They have no idea how the money was taken or from whom it

While the contribution is the best in several years, the other $8,000 having been sent many years ago, it is not the largest. Long ago a man who came under the influence of an English clergyman returned $14,500 by bill of exchange from
